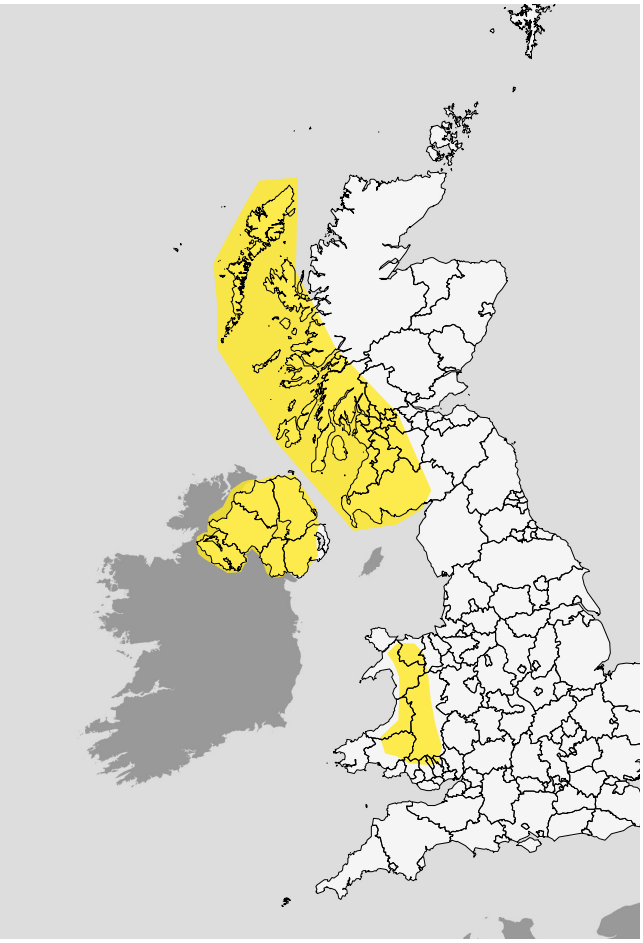
Yellow warning
Snow & Ice

Between
00:00 Sat 13 Feb 2021 and
23:59 Sat 13 Feb 2021



Snow is likely to spread east during Saturday with some accumulations in places and icy stretches. Potential for disruption to travel.

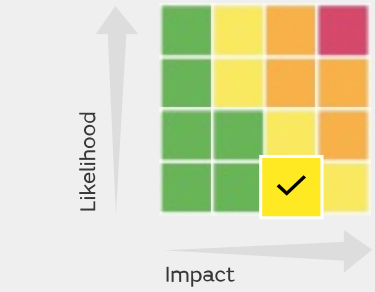
What to expect

- Some roads and railways likely to be affected with longer journey times by road, bus and train services. Small chance of more prolonged delays with stranded vehicles and cancelled rail and air travel.
- There is a slight chance that some rural communities could become cut off
- There is a small chance that power cuts will occur and other services, such as mobile phone coverage, may be affected
- A small chance that untreated pavements and cycle paths become impassable

Further details

A band of snow is likely to arrive into Northern Ireland during the early hours of Saturday with snow continuing here though the day. 1-4 cm of snow is possible widely with 5-10 cm, perhaps up to 15 cm over high ground. Later snow may turn to freezing rain across parts of Northern Ireland bringing an additional ice risk.

Whilst there remains a chance of heavy snow for parts of Wales and western Scotland it is more uncertain whether there will be sufficient snow to cause any disruption in these areas.



Very low likelihood of medium impacts
